Notes:

*Louisiana's caseload includes families receiving Kinship Care Subsidies.

Caseload totals for Maryland and Minnesota reflect the sum of cases in federal and separate state TANF programs.

Minnesota began moving two-parent families into a separate state program in October of 2001.

*December 2001 was the first month in which TANF cases in New York could exhaust their 60-month time limit. A large proportion of the caseload decrease in December was the result of time-limited cases transferring to New York's Safety Net Assistance.

In March 2002, the SSI Caretaker counts in Wisconsin were derived in a different manner and no longer automatically included "grandfathered" cases.
